JOHN GEX ON M. F. A. BOARD

NINTH ANNUAL CONVENTION ENDED AT SEDALIA.

ELECT MRS. INGRAM

Of Barnard as a Director of W. P. F. A. —Organization Renews Faith in Producer's contract.

John Gex of Graham was elected a member of the board of directors of the Missouri Farmers' Association at the ninth annual convention in Sedalia this week. Mrs. Ernest Ingram of Barnard was elected one of the state directors of the Women's Progressive Farmers' Association, which also met at Sedalia with the M. F. A.

In the resolutions, unanimously adopted as read by William Hirth of Columbia, the convention renewed its faith in the producer's contract formulated by the M. F. A., declaring it the only way by which the farmers can be rescued from low price levels against the demands of industry and labor. It means organized selling, which is the only method by which the farmer's dollar can be raised to the standard of industry's dollar, the resolutions declared. Congress was asked to enact farm relief legislation.

A Rap at Baker.

The resolution renewed the demand of last year's convention that each county, in the future, must finance its own membership drives. They denounced the vetoing by Governor Baker of the Missouri Farm Association legislation, which came before the last legislature. They pledged support to any candidate who could be depended upon to "be fair to agriculture," regardless of party lines, who may choose to enter the gubernatorial race.

The appointment of unqualified men to government positions in the state market bureau was condemned.

A protest was lodged against the proposed increase in freight rates, for, the resolution declared, the farmer's burdens already are "crushing heavily."

Resolutions were adopted by the W. P. F. A. pledging their support to the M. F. A.'s program of putting the producers' contract into effect, and to use only M. F. A. products in the members' household. Hope was expressed that the next legislature would enact laws providing for inspection and grading of all eggs marketed.

Members were enjoined to use their influence in electing to political office only those nominees known to be in sympathy with farm organizations.

Officers elected by the Missouri Farmers' Association were:

Al J. Crawford, vice-president, of Atlanta, Macon County, was elected to the presidency. C. M. Stiles of Aldridge, Polk County, was elected vice-president.

Vacancies on the state directing board were filled with the election of the following:

John Gex of Nodaway County, W. A. Kearns of Clark County, F. W. Cain of Adair County, Fred Miller of Johnson County, C. E. Bishop of Cedar County, A. C. Krisel of Benton County, George M. Kelley of Tipton, Moniteau County, Chris Ohlendorf of Cooper County, Tom Chapman of Ozark County, and W. S. Miller of Phelps County.

Women Elect.

Mrs. W. A. Beal of Bolivar, Mo., was elected president of the Women's Progressive Farmers' Association, and Mrs. Tom Holliday of Shelbyville was elected vice-president. Mrs. Bert Hopper of Maywood, Mo., retiring president, who has held the chair the past two years, was named state leader of boys' and girls' club work. State directors were elected as follows:

Mrs. George J. Kent of Osgood, Mo., representative from the second district; Mrs. C. L. Miller of Springfield, from the seventh district; Mrs. C. B. Dermott of Lamar, from the fifteenth district, and five at large; Mrs. Maybelle Keisel of Brunswick, Mrs. O. M. Young of Mount Vernon, Mrs. A. K. Rolf of Belleflower, Mrs. Ernest Ingram of Barnard and Mrs. Joe Meek of Maysville.

ARE IDLE ON PAVING WORK

SEWER JOB STARTED

Seven More Blocks to Be Let—Will Set Dates to Let Contracts Tomorrow Night

The work of laying 2½ inch fiber bricks on the 4-inch concrete base recently laid on Walnut street between the south line of the Wabash right-of-way and Twelfth street, is being held up until a car of tar arrives, according to the superintendent of the Cook & O'Brien Construction Co., Jack Cannon. He said the brick was on hand but there was not enough tar to warrant commencing the brick laying.

The short strip of pavement seven-inch re-inforced concrete, on Lincoln street between Main and Buchanan streets was completed the fore part of this week. With the completion of laying the brick on the blocks and a little over on Walnut street, paving operations in Maryville will be ended temporarily. However, the contracts for approximately seven more blocks of paving are yet to be let by the city council this fall, and it is expected that these projects will also be constructed before snow flies.

The projects yet to be let this fall are: about two and a half blocks on West Fifth street from Mulberry street to the Wabash right-of-way; on Walnut street from Thompson street to Halsey street, three blocks; and on Walnut street from Seventh street to Ninth, the Wabash right-of-way.

Today is the last day for filing protests on the projects, Walnut from Seventh street to the Wabash right-of-way and on West Fifth street. The council will meet tomorrow night for the purpose of passing ordinances for this paving and set a date for letting the contracts unless some protests are filed.

It will be about twenty-four days at the shortest time before the contract can be let after the ordinance is introduced. These last three paving projects are specified to be seven-inch reinforced conerete.

The Cook & O'Brien Construction Co., will leave its material here for a time and the company is expected to put in bids for the remaining paving contracts to be let. Mr. Cannon said late yesterday afternoon that he was expecting to do some work over at Stanberry this fall, and would probably take some of his men and equipment from here to Stanberry.

This concern also has the contract to the laying of approximately 3,000 feet of sewer pipe in the east part of Maryville. Work was commenced the middle of this week on digging the trenches, starting on Newton at Fourth. Sewer pipes will be put in on East Fourth and East Third streets.

Live Together Two Months; Want Divorce

Bert Pierson is suing for divorce from Mattie Eva Pierson, according to a petition filed in the circuit clerk's office today. The grounds for the divorce are alleged as the defendant leaving him. The petition states they were married at Rock Port on December 29, 1923, and lived together until January 1924, when the defendant left.

HEALTH MUST BE CONSIDERED

PHYSICAL SIDE OF EDUCATION PHILLIPS' SUBJECT.

TEACHERS MEET ENDS

Missouri Passing Through Critical Period—Points Out Weakness of Educational Scheme.

The two-day county teachers' plan meeting, which has been held yesterday and today in the High School auditorium, came to a close today with an address by Homer T. Phillips of the education department of the State Teachers College, and group meetings of the high school, grade, and rural teachers.

Missouri is passing through a crucial period which will determine whether or not the physical side of child development shall be incorporated in the general scheme of education and whether adequate financial arrangements shall be made for that phase of education, Mr. Phillips told the teachers this morning. The last session of the legislature closed without any appropriation being made for physical education in the schools and the work, which is to be carried on the next two years will be paid for by voluntary contributions from individuals and organizations in the state who are interested in physical education. The Missouri Tuberculosis Association alone has contributed $2,000 dollars for the work, Mr. Phillips said.

Mr. Phillips divided his talk into four sections: the physical problems arising with the individual child, those peculiar to children en masse, those attributable to environmental conditions, and those problems concerning recreational measures.

"One of the glaring weaknesses of educational schemes up to the present, is that they do not take into consideration the fact that physical welfare is essential to intellectual development," Mr. Phillips said in speaking of the necessity for a physical education program. Every teacher has the great privilege of helping every child in the school to become a strong, virile man or woman. "The child who does not have some one to see to it that he

DOCTORS ARE OBSTINATE

SAY THEY WILL NOT RESIGN FROM BOARD OF HEALTH.

DISREGARD GOVERNOR

Doctor Waite Makes Criticism After A Survey—North Wired Governor to Take Action.

St. Louis, Aug. 27.—The Governor's invitation to Dr. Emmett North, president of the state board of health, and Dr. James Stewart, secretary, to resign their official positions probably will not be accepted.

The two doctors said today they would not be drawn into any controversaries with the state's chief executive. Then they indicated they would probably not step out of the board of health jobs.

The situation existing now points back at the situation which cropped up several weeks ago confronting Doctor Enloe. Recentiy Dr. S. C. Waite, Cleveland, completed a survey of the licientious system of the medical schools of the state and presented severe criticism of Doctor Enloe who was at one time secretary of the state board.

Doctor North wired the Governor urging him to take some action after the report and the Governor issued a statement to newspaper men Wednesday at Jefferson City in which he said he would not be dictated to. It was in that statement that the Governor, without naming anyone, invited North and Stewart to resign from the state board.

WILCOX WINS LOVING CUP

FOR SALE OF TUBERCULAR SEALS IN THE COUNTY.

$468.14 IS ON HAND

In the County Tubercular Association —Mount Joy Wins Cup Among Rural Schools.

The financial report of Nodaway County unit of the Missouri Tubercular Association, recently made by Miss Gertrude Horton, secretary-treasurer of the organization, shows a balance of $468.14 of which $250 is in the local treasury and $218.14 is available from the St. Louis office.

Receipts since December 9, 1924, were $344.50 and the expenditures since that date have been $94.50.

Wilcox High School won the loving cup last winter with a total sale of $23.65 in seal stamps, a per capita of 19.7 cents in the sale. No arrangement has been made to continue the high school at Wilcox this year so the cup will probably be put in the county superintendent's office for the rest of the year. The Maryville district was second with a sale of $202.26, or 16.6 cents per pupil. Ravenwood Consolidated was third and Burlington Junction was fourth.

Among the rural schools Mount Joy won the possession of a large banner by making of total sale of $8, or a sale of 66.6 cents per child enrolled. McCann school was second with a total sale of $6.60, and per capita sale of 38.8 cents.

At a free clinic conducted by the county organization in the health offices of the county here last winter fifteen persons were examined for tuberculosis, four being found positive and eleven negative.

Heretofore, the seal stamps which are sold each year at Christmas time will be sent directly to the county committee from St. Louis instead of being sent to the school teachers of the county as formerly. Proceeds of all sales will also be sent in to the committee by all teachers to whom stamps are sent by the committee for sale.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Miller and daughter of Skidmore were in Maryville today.

Dentist Calls Halt by Choking Himself

Los Angeles Society Dentist Found Dead in His Cell This Morning —Bound With Wire.

Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 27—Death wrote a sudden finish to the murder trial of Dr. Thomas W. Young, Los Angeles society dentist, accused of smothering to death his wife, Grace Young. The dentist's features, twisted by agony, was found dead in his cell in the county jail this morning. A wire bound the Doctor's neck and his hands carried red streaks, made when he twisted and choked himself to death.

Jailers have been keeping close watch during the night as it was stated that the jury that was trying him for the death of his wife, was today to have visited the Beverly Glen cabin where the woman's body was found buried in a cistern last February.

At 6 o'clock this morning jailers peered into the jail basement cell. Dostor Young being kept in solitary confinement. The litle dentist was sleeping peacefully at this time. The jailer reported that by 7:20 o'clock this morning he looked into the cell and saw his dead body stretched out on the cot.

U. S. SHIES AT DEBT PACT

FOREIGN SETTLEMENT REGARDED AS STUMBLING BLOCK.

ENGLISH ARE GENEROUS

Do Not Expect Frnace to Reply Until End of American-French Parley Next Month.

Washington, August 27.—The Anglo-French debt funding agreement is looked upon by government officials as another stumbling block of settling of the French 4-billion debt to the United States.

It is believed that the settlement retarded completely the American-French negotiations conference, scheduled to take place in Washington next month but emphasized nevertheless that the United States has no connections with the Anglo-French agreement and is not confronted in any way in the negotiations with France.

Carefully averting any public statement which might bring an attack on the French finance minister, the British foreign ministers and officials probably regard the view that the American-French agreement could be regarded more or less as an effort on the part of France to scale down the debt owed to the United States rather than to pay the 3 billions, 750 million dollars. The fact that the agreement provided for a little more than the payment of interest by France to England over a period of sixty-two years was enough, it was stated, to eliminate it from consideration as anything as a basis for the French-American debt settlement.

London, Aug. 27.—"Great Britain has made a generous offer but we are not shouting with glee from the housetops."

This was the laconic comment made today by British foreign officials on the proposal for the settlement of the French debt to Great Britain, which was ordered to Monsieur Caillaux and today were taken to presentation to the government. British officials would not venture an opinion on France accepting the terms but admit they do not expect a government reply from France until Caillaux has returned from Washington and completed negotiations for the settlement of the French debt to America.

MAY AVERT COAL STRIKE

A NEW PEACE PLAN WILL BE SUBMITTED.

JOY IN COAL FIELDS

All Eyes Are Turned Toward Philadelphia—Date for Strike Is Set for Tuesday.

Willkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 27.—A new peace plan to meet the objections of operators and miners has been reported by the anthracite Citizen's committee, John L. Uhl said today after a secret conference at Scranton. Uhl refuses to divulge the plan for fear "That it might hurt our chances." He explained this plan is the only hope to prevent a walkout of anthracite miners next Tuesday.

Willkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 27.—There was rejoicing throughout the anthracite coal fields today, caused by the belief that the Citizen's committee had at last succeeded in delaying, if not preventing, the hard coal strike scheduled to go into effect September 1. All eyes are turned toward Philadelphia, expecting to see before the day is over whether or not the efforts of the Citizen's committee has actually accomplished what is earnestly hoped for in all quarters, the resumption of negotiations between miners and operators.

Taking with him the signed statements of Major W. W. Ingliss, chairman of the operators committee at the unsuccessful parley held at Atlantic City this summer, John L. Uhl, chairman of the Citizen's committee is pursuing John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers enroute to Ney York, to "consider fully" the miners demands if he desired to resume negotiations.

Today had been decided for issuing the strike order, causing the walkout of 158,000 anthracite miners on September 1.

But Lewis was not expected to take any further action toward a strike settlement until he received from Uhl reports of events at the conference of Citizen's committee and a committee of operators.

Workmen Busy Dismantling Old Seminary; Structure Opened For School In Year 1891 Under the Management First M. E Church

Struggling for its existence under favorable and sometimes unfavorable conditions, and at last giving way to a state institution, the building which house the Maryville Seminary, located in the west part of the city, is now being dismantled and the brick and lumber hauled near the power plant on the campus of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College.

According to W. F. Phares, president of the board of regents of the College, the material taken from the old brick building, windowless for many years, and unoccupied as a school since 1910, will eventually be used for construction purposes at the College. Additions to the power plant and coal bins, a garage and a machine shed to house the farm machinery are under advisement by the board of regents at the present time, although the locations for the new buildings have not been determined.

The contract for razing the old Seminary building was let to Hildreth & Hardin of Maryville and work commenced this week on tearing down the old Maryville landmark.

The brick, rafters, joists, floors, in fact all available material that might possibly be of any use is being saved.

The Maryville Seminary was attended by many Maryville persons now prominent in a business way and socially. The Maryville citizens in the late 80's labored zealously to furnish Maryville with an educational institution besides the public schools and the Seminary was the result of their ambitions and struggles. The Seminary finally became a part and parcel of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College and perhaps was one of the reasons the state officials considered Maryville for the seat of the present College is the fact that the Seminary was offered as a donation to the state.

Prof. O. H. Smith was the first president of the institution. Others were George E. Moore, C. Q. Merica, the Rev. C. O. Mills, and C. F. Enyart was the last president. J. J. Bryant was for a long time in the business department.

Prominent instructors at the Seminary during its existence were Miss Cora Dann, Miss Cora E. Dill, John H. Walker, and Miss Laura Hawkins.

The Seminary was discontinued the year the state Normal School was started. It was under the management of the Maryville First M. E. Church and the board of trustees employed the teachers. Although the school was under the management of a church organization it was non-sectarian. L. M. Lane was the first secretary of the board and D. R. Eversole was the second secretary, holding the position for many years.

On July 7, 1887, articles of incorporation were filed of the "Northwest Missouri Educational and Scientific Association" with the following named as incorporators:

A. C. Gann, L. M. Lane, Dr. John W. Dean, Samuel F. Garrett, Theodore Robinson, James Todd, Sr., Thomas W. Gaunt, John W. Miller, Daniel R. Eversole, Dr. J. N. Goodson, Ira K. Alderman, A. M. Howendobler, R. L. McDougal, W. L. Johnson and C. Q. Smith. This organization later became known as the Maryville Seminary. It was announced on September 5, 1889, that an academic grade would be opened October 1 and that a faculty would be elected. The first Seminary faculty was comprised of the Rev. Doctor Oliver H. Smith, president; Miss Edith Smith, Miss Emma Campbell, Miss Mattie D. Ennis, Prof. J. C. Ewing, Prof. A. L. Van Buskirk, Mrs. J. C. Ewing, Judge Cyrus A. Anthony, lecturer, and Dr. Joseph B. Morrison, lecturer. Temporary quarters were secured in certain store rooms located on the east side of Market street.

On March 4, 1890, a public meeting was held. Six thousand dollars was pledged and propositions for donations or sales of land for the site of the school were entertained. Eight propositions were received and the one accepted was made by Theodore L. Robinson. His tract was of nearly ten acres west of and adjoining the Thompson home, with the price of $1,300 with a subscription by citizens covering that amount, rendered the site practically a donation.

The Seminary Board at once proceeded to make plans for the erection of a building, which was completed in 1891, and the school continued in this building until 1905, when the buildings were donated to the Normal.

The Seminary Board that made donation of the Seminary building and grounds consisted of fifteen members:

The Rev. E. B. Lytle, president; John W. Airy, vice-president; D. R. Eversole, secretary; Joseph Jackson, Sr., treasurer; J. C. Curfman, G. B. Holmes, Nathaniel Sisson, W. F. Smith, Walter Mutz, W. R. Wells, J. V. Embree, I. K. Alderman, G. L. Wilfley, the Rev. R. L. Thompson and E. C. Wolfert. The Seminary site, including the building were placed at a valuation for school purposes of $30,000, at the time propositions were being made to get the state Normal school at Maryville.

The last commencement of the Maryville Seminary was held June 8, 1905. The Rev. E. B. Lytle, president of the board of trustees, presented the diplomas to the following graduates:

THE ONLY DAILY PAPER IN NODAWAY COUNTY

NEWSPAPERS DESERT MAILS.

Newspaper publishers have shown the congressional joint sub-committee that existing rates on Newspapers are so high that the postoffice is losing a great volume of business which express companies and railroads are carrying at a profit for one-third the postal tariffs.

Private corporations, such as telephone and telegraph companies, express companies and the railroads, have learned by actual experience that there is considerable profit to them in low-rate tariff of sufficient volume and that through low rates they can attract new business of a character that will not necessitate additional equipment or personel. Examples are telegraph night letters, night long-distance telephone calls, express milk trains and passenger baggage service.

The congressional committee has been shown that the government, rather than lose more of the second-class mail business to the private carriers, should adopt the low-rate policy which has proven so rich in revenue for the private carriers. The post-office department can not afford to lose the newspaper business, especially where it does not necessitate increased operating costs and where it is one of the few constant and unvarying sources of business and income.

There is also to be said in favor of low postal rates for newspapers that they aid the mail carrier to deliver the paper to the citizen and home at a minimum cost to the reader and with the dual benefit to the government which comes from the postal charges and the dissemination among the people of knowledge in governmental matters.

The newspapers are textbooks in that School of Charles Sumner in which "the postoffice is schoolmaster with the school for all and with scholars counted by the millions."

THE WILLING 60,000.

The request of the "coconut king" for suggestions as to the best way to spend his millions received 60,000 answers from as many volunteer advisers. More than 55,000 of the suggestions constituted panhandling by mail, and among the remaining, 5,000 there was none worthy of serious consideration.

Human beings can not put aside their selfishness when it is a matter of money. Some seek gold for themselves, their families and friends; others covet money for the movements and organizations with which they are allied. Selfishness is as natural with organized effort as with individuals.

As a rule people are so anxious to tell others how to spend their money that it seems a waste of time and energy for the possessor of the money to invite such advice. The poor rich men would be unwise to accept expert advice in this matter because the expert at spending money are usually penniless.

Someone who has no chance to help this troubled millionaire to spend his surplus cash should advise him to seek no assistance in the spending. If the "coconut king" has made his millions himself he should know that the man worth while would be made unhappy if denied the right to make his own fortune for those who earn best enjoy the spending.

There is a burning sermon in the millionaire's announcement that the 60,000 letters show an appalling need for education in the land of free schools.

If everybody could do as they please, who would wash the dishes?

Some men have hobbies and some have jobs, but those with jobs get paid for them.

This would be a terrible world if all the grouches were as bad off as they think they are.

The Volstead law lacks a good deal of being enforced 100 per cent, but there are others also.

That a city booster radiates optimism.

That the real booster makes each step a forward, constructive one.

That the pessimist feels that the trend of his city is backward.

That the booster never feels that way. He is too full of the progressive spirit and knows that where there is a will there is a way and he has found the way, and that way is forward.

That people radiating the spirit of optimism and progressiveness are those who build towns into cities and keep the wheels of industry moving at a rapid rate.

That nearly everyone can combine business with pleasure.

That it is both business and pleasure to take an active part in the upbuilding and betterment of the home community.

That to follow the leaders in city-building is a good policy.

That most cities lead because they have leaders and the people as a whole stand behind their leaders.

Some cities fail to go ahead, not because they have not good leaders, but on account of the indifference to their city's welfare on the part of the majority of its citizens.

Hobbies of the Great and Near Great in American National Life

Senator T. H. Caraway.

An army of "dirt" farmers, agriculturalists and even city-bred farm bloc members have come to Washington in recent years to help Uncle Sam run his government, but Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway (D., of Ark.), continues to be the only real "shade tree" farmer in Congress. It is his chief hobby.

Of course the Senator is a lawyer by profession, he doesn't own a farm and he probably wouldn't know how to plow, but still he is a devoted follower of his hobby. That is where the "shade tree" enters the picture. But let the Senator explain it.

"My hobby is being a shade-tree farmer," he says. "I want to demonstrate the theory I believe in, that a man can actually make a farm pay by raising crops and selling them at a profit. It is a unique hobby, since no one has ever succeeded. Therefore I will be entitled to a place in history, like Columbus, although, unlike him, I shall be the first and the last as well.

"But, as I'm a shade-tree farmer, I've always sat under the tree and never verified my theory."

Visits Old Farms.

Caraway has another hobby which he enjoys. It is a love for old farms and old furniture. Just after the adjournment of the last session of Congress he spent a month in Maryland touring the rural sections so that he could visit old farms. He caused considerable speculation among Maryland farmers when asking them for permission to look over their farms. The farmers couldn't quite understand that Caraway didn't want to buy their properties, but merely wanted to satisfy a curious hobby.

The Senator also hunts and fishes for recreation and pleasure.

He loves to roam through the Arkansas hills, hunting and fishing. He has fished in the Potomac, too, when in Washington, but he prefers the quiet streams of his native State. He also hunts in the Arkansas hills, seeking quail, squirrels, turkeys and deer, but with little concern whether or not the hunting bag gets filled.

"I'm not keen on killing game," he says. "I can't get any joy out of it, but I do like to hunt because it offers warm companionships and is an excuse for living in the woods close to nature."

Forensic Star.

The Senator is best known in the capital for his powers of debate. When he rises in the Senate to denounce some act of his political opponents he usually draws a crowded chamber. As a wit and satirist he is without a peer in Congress. He uses words as a flashing rapier with which to wound, and over his debate he flings a veil of rich sarcasm that bites deep into the opposition. It takes a bold opponent to cross verbal swords with the Senator from Arkansas.

Caraway is a self-made man, and he never forgets the long struggle he had to win an education. His rise has been remarkable, for at twenty-one he was a section hand in a railroad track gang. He droves spikes on the "Cotton Belt" for $1.25 a day and has never been ashamed of his humble beginning. He even admitted last session in debate that he was "fired" from that job. He didn't tell why but here's the reason:

Fired From Job.

It seems a long-whiskered section-hand was digging a ditch opposite the spot where Caraway worked. The future Senator watched the ditch-digger bend to his task, his long whiskers were a target, and Caraway poured a shovelful of hot sand over the bent head of his fellow-worker and watched the sand trickle through the whiskers. The co-worker saw nothing funny and started a quarrel, which ended only when the section foreman fired both of them.

"I got $1.25 a day for that job," says Caraway, "but I had to board with the section foreman, and it so happened that the board bill and my wages exactly balanced at the end of the week. It was a great job."

Tomorrow—Senator Burton K. Wheeler.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington.—In the old days of the development of the west, eastern capital wasn't a bit popular with the very pioneers who strained all their powers of persuasion to get it into the enterprises they were engaged in promoting.

They had to have it, but when they got it they accused it of hoggishness.

Capital, in turn, accused the westerners of trying to play it for a sucker. There was a good deal of ill feeling between them. If the capital had been foreign the feeling would have been lots worse. It would have had its own government back of it, clamoring for justice.

The western Americans would have demanded that their government tell the other government to go to a warmer climate. Possible it would have done so. Which would have been very unpleasant.

Just now the United States is engaged in financing the world, as the east financed the west, here at home, forty or fifty years ago.

Doesn't it stand to reason that the rest of the world is going to feel toward American capital the same way that the west felt toward eastern capital those three or four decades back? Only more so, at least so far as Europe is concerned.

It isn't quite so bad in fields like South America. South Americans haven't got the complex that they "saved civilization" and ought to be paid for it. Even so, they're suspicious of North American capital, fearing economic, and perhaps political domination by it.

But Europeans, at the same time they accept American money, because they must, are resentful of it. They're used to investing their capital, to exploit others, not to having others invest it, to exploit them.

Besides, they're exceedingly grouchy over Uncle Sam's insistence on a settlement of his war loans. Now he's buying up their industries, which they don't want to lose. He's buying them up wholesale, too. His foreign investments aggregate almost as much as his war claims, and these are around 12 billions, as everybody knows. He started buying bonds. Now he's buying stocks. From a creditor he's becoming owner.

Vegetables Will Cure Colds of Faithful

Twenty thousand sneezing sufferers from colds, coughs and asthma recently gathered here to receive a "free vegetable cure" from a holy man.

For weeks it had been advertised that the holy man would offer free treatment for colds, and the invalids poured in from the provinces. Handbills were presented to all the sufferers stating that they could only be cured if they abstained from liquor and meat.

Milk was said to be necessary to the cure and the demand for it was so great that the price rose rapidly.

The appointed day for the cure came. Thousands waited for hours for the holy man to appear. Just as midnight approached the holy man came and distributed the precious vegetable, but announced that the potion had to be consumed at full moon, so the invalids waited until three in the morning before taking their medicine.

The holy man announces a new meeting of sufferers as soon as the monsoons have passed.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo. McShane of Kansas City, Kansas, drove to Maryville last night to visit relatives. They were accompanied by Miss Kate Vaughn.

Dr. and Mrs. Gomer John of Promise City, Ia., came last night to visit friends in and near Wilcox. Dr. John lived in Wilcox thirteen years ago.

Valentino's New Leading Lady

Rudolph Valentino denies that his new leading lady, Vilma Banky, a fascinating beauty recently imported from Budapest for the American screen, has anything to do with his recent separation from his wife, Natacha Rambova. He insists that their marital troubles are due to the fact that he wants a home with children and his wife wants a career. While his wife was sailing for Europe to see if "absent treatment" would smooth over their difficulties Valentino was attending a preview at Los Angeles of the new picture in which Miss Banky and he are starring.

When police were notified she refused to let them or doctors in for some time. Mrs. Wilson was believed to be wealthy.

Business Man a Bandit

More than $12,000 of the $21,000 which Fred C. Nickol, Dayton, O., manufacturer, obtained by robbing a bank there was discovered in a new garage in the rear of his $40,000 home. Part of it was secreted in a window frome. A detective is shown with a box full of the recovered currency.

Fred C. Nickol, prominent Dayton, O., business man, has confessed that, disguised in a blue mask and robe, he robbed a bank there of $21,000 to recoup his business losses. His arrest resulted from the statement to the police of Miss Helen Sammet, his niece, who worked in the bank. She said that the robber's mask hid a gray moustache.

Route of Shenandoah Is Finally Settled

Giant Dirigible Is Expected to Fly Over Maryville Afternoon of September 4th.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Under a revision of the schedule for the Mid-Western cruise of the Shenandoah, determined upon at a conference of the navigating officers at Lakehurst yesterday, the giant aircraft will sweep over St. Joseph between 3 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon of September 4.

The big ship will fly over Des Moines, Iowa, late in the afternoon of September 3, and will proceed to Scott Field, near St. Louis, reaching there about midnight, where a landing will be made. The following morning it will start on the flight across Missouri.

St. Joseph, Aug. 27.—Announcement of virtually the exact hour the Shenandoah will visit St. Joseph one week from Friday will be received with much satisfaction by the people of the city and vicinity. It will enable them to make definite arrangements whereby they may view the big dirigible with a minimum loss of time from their duties.

The announcement also assure a great number of visitors to St. Joseph on that date. People of the neighboring towns and adjacent country will be able to reach St. Joseph by motor cars or trains in ample time to see the airship, and return home at a seasonable hour.

The indications are that the Shenandoah's visit will attract many people, for this will be the first time so large a ship has navigated the air in this part of the country.

Although no reports have been officially received locally it is expected that the dirigible Shenandoah will fly over Maryville shortly after 5 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon.

MOTHERS OF DAUGHTERS

Will Profit by Reading Mrs. Quigg's Letter Telling How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her Daughter

Royersford, Pa.—"My daughter was sickly from the time she was 13 years old, and when she was 15 she was irregular and also had severe headaches and pains in her sides and back. She was this way about six months before I began giving her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regularly, although she had tried it before. It helped her very much. She is not bothered by headaches, backaches, or cramping any more, and has not missed but one day. We recommend it to other mothers with girls who have these troubles."—Mrs. QUIGG, 210 Main St., Royersford, Pa.

Another Mother's Letter

Roxbury, Mass.—"At the age of 16 my daughter was all run down, nervous, with poor blood. These troubles made her weak and unfit to work. She tried several medicines, but they did her no good. Finally I induced her to take the Vegetable Compound, too, and she has gained in health and strength and is now working steadily. I have told these facts to many mothers, and I hope this letter will reach many more."—Mrs. HUDSON, 252 Eustis Street, Roxbury, Mass.

Child-birth

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

RESIGNS FROM FORESTRY D'PT.

VERNE RHOADES, GRAHAM BOY, LEAVES SERVICE.

AT ASHEVILLE, N. C.

Son of Dr. and Mrs. M. M. Rhoades of Graham—Paper Speaks Highly of His Services.

Verne Rhoades, son of Dr. and Mrs. M. M. Rhoades of Graham, has resigned as supervisor of the Pisgah national forest at Asheville, N. C., following a service of ten years, according to a paper from that city. The resignation of Mr. Rhoades takes effect September 1. He expects to go into private business at once.

Mr. Rhoades is a Nodaway County boy and completed his school course at Graham, afterwards attending the Clarinda high school, and the William Jewel College at Liberty, Mo., and the Biltmore School of Forestry at Asheville, N. C.

An editorial from an Asheville paper says Mr. Rhoades was an unusually capable public servant and is as follows:

The resignation of Verne Rhoades as Supervisor of the Pisgah National Forest brings to an end a career of singularly disinterested and intelligent public service.

Mr. Rhoades came to t his section at the time when the Federal government was just embarking upon its policy of acquiring large tracts of land and converting them into national forests. It fell to his official lot to administer these lands in the name of the government, to execute plans for reforestation and conservation and to co-operate in the extension of the purchases.

He has done his work well. He has brought to his official labors the trained understanding of the expert forester and the rich personality of an extremely likeable man. The high estate in which the forestry movement now finds itself in this section is due in no small measure to his efforts. He has made innumerable friends for the cause of forest conservation.

The officials of the United States Forest Service have always been noted for their unselfishness and their intelligence. Their work does not always carry the richest rewards in the form of salaries. A large part of their compensation is in the consciousness of an important function honestly and intelligently discharged.

It can be said in all truth that Verne Rhoades has exemplified the best ideals of the United States Forest Service. He has acquitted himself most creditably as a public servant and has placed this section under deep obligations to him.

OFF THE CONCRETE.

Farmer Anderson owns a quarter of land.
He has fine crops and his road is grand.
His road is grand, as I said before,
For he keeps it dragged right up to the door.
A friend came along by the name of Brown
And said to John, "Let's go to town.
"There's a baseball game at the college park.
We can see the fun and be back by dark."
John looked at Brown, then up at the sun;
And wished he could see Babe Ruth's home run.
But on his mind lay a heavy load,
As he turned on his heel to drag the road.
His wife called out from the cottage door;
That dinner'd been waiting since half past four.
There was chicken and dressing and blackberry jam,
And salads and pudding and a cold leg of lamb.
The table was groaning beneath such a load,
But he wouldn't come in till he'd dragged the road.
John finished the job with his usual smile,
As a car shot by driving sixty mile.
John thought he could hear the monster say.
"It's the best durn road in the U. S. A."
He watched the car with great alarm,
Till it safely passed the Anderson farm.
Then the road was rough and he lost control,
And turned upside down in a big mud hole.
John turned and ran as he called to his wife,
"I'll drag that man's road if it costs me my life."

M. A. Brown.

EXPANSIONS CAUSE QUAKES

OTHERS ARE FEARED

By Luther A. Huston,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Tokyo, Aug. 27.—The theory, long held by many scientists, that earthquakes are caused by a shrinkage of the earth's surface due to the gradual cooling of the globe, is thrown into the discard by Dr. Nakamura, a noted seismological expert and professor at Tohoku Imperial University. In its place Dr. Nakamura sets up the theory that earthquakes, a great many of them at least, are due to emanation of radium from the earth.

This conclusion was arrived at by Dr. Nakamura after an extensive study of recent earthquakes in Japan, particularly the quake of May 23, which destroyed the villages of Toyooka and Kinosaki, in the San-in district of Western Japan. He is firmly convinced that this earthquake is directly traceable to radium emanation.

Blames Expansion.

Dr. Nakamura's theory is that earthquakes, instead of being caused by a shrinkage of the earth, are really caused by violent expansions of the earth's surface. These expansions are due to the cumulative power of radium which forces the soil to move violently.

After the earthquake in the San-in district, Dr. Nakamura went to that region and spent several weeks in studying the causes and effects of the disaster. The district is plentifully supplied with hot springs, which, Dr. Nakamura contends, are a constant source of radio activity. As a result of his investigations, Dr. Nakamura believes that radium emanations are more powerful on the Japan Sea coast than upon the Pacific side of the main island. Radio activity, he found, was at its maximum in the hot springs districts of Tottori, Niigata and Tsugara regions.

Although convinced that many earthquakes are caused by radium emanations, Dr. Nakamura is not prepared as yet to claim that all quakes result from this cause. He is unwilling to assert that it was radio activity that caused the major earthquake that devastated Tokyo and Yokohama on Sept. 1, 1923.

Fear Quakes Soon.

It is the general opinion of seismologists that frequent earthquakes in Japan are to be expected in the immediate future. According to Mr. Kunitomi, of the Central Meteorological Observatory in Tokyo, all of the known seismic ranges in Japan are now active. This virtually means that a nation-wide disturbed seismic conditions prevails and this situation, it is admitted, is fraught with danger.

The seismic ranges that are particularly active at present are those in the Kwanto, Toyoako, Nobi, Kii and Awaji districts in Japan proper, the southwestern part of the Hokkaido and the near port of Karenko in Formosa.

The recent earthquake that shook the city of Nagoya, in the Nobi district, was the first that had occurred in that region in many years and indicates, observers declare, that a long dormant seismic range in that vicinity has become active.

Thirteen Dogs Haul Them Across U. S.

Thirteen husky Alaskan dogs are "the horsepower" by which William A. Blomberg and Owen Chamberlin of Minneapolis are touring the country. They use a sled wagon, similar to the Alaskan sled, except that it has wheels. But it's more expensive than breezing along on high priced gasoline, because 60 pounds of raw meat are required daily to feed the dogs. Above is a view of the dog procession. Below are the two tourists and their car and one of their dogs.

Lost 20 Pounds Since Looting Bank

Dayton, O., Aug. 26.—Fred Nickol, Dayton's phantom robber, has lost 20 pounds since he looted the Savings and Trust bank here, but he insists his worry is not the result of superstition.

"The Thirteen Soap Company is located in my building" he said.

"I have followed its career closely but never have been superstitious about it.

"When I parked my motor at police headquarters I was cited for traffic violation number thirteen. But I am not superstitious. Just unfortunate."

Chicago Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, August 27.—Higher prices were recorded in grains after a sharp recovery from new low levels on the crops. Wheat led in the advance.

Action in wheat gave fairly good evidence of professional control in the pit. From a drop to new low levels, registered in early trade, the market made a sensational rise to prices substantially above the previous finish.

Provisions advanced with the better hog prices and buying credited to foreign accounts.

Urges Scanty Attire for the Bathers

"Expose as much skin as possible" urged Dr. Herman N. Bundesen. "The bloom of youth is in the sunlight."

"Beware of immodesty" warned Chief of Police Morgan A. Collins. Health is so little use behind the bars."

And so the "beach vamp" who parades the inland streets with her pretty brown limbs flashing in the sunlight, finds her case foremost on the docket of city government controversies.

For many years the informality of Chicago's beach life has been the wonder of the transient population. During the warm summer months it has been established as a tradition that wherever a lake breeze is blowing clothes may be discarded almost at will.

Of course there is a law. It requires bath robes be worn over bathing suits on the streets running in from Lake Michigan. But there is no law saying that bath robes must be tied at the waists. This over sight by the city council allows the robes to flap in the wind straight out from the shoulders with full legality. And thus the purpose of the bath robe ordinance stands defeated.

Even the most conscientious policeman passes up enforcing the law's spirit when he sees its letter so attractively obeyed.

The entire bathing beach dress situation probably would have been unnoticed (officially by the police department) had it not been for Dr. Budenson's remarks in the week's health bulletin.

Dr. Bundeson's bulletin urged everyone to wear as scanty attire as possible both in and out of the water. He dwelt at length on the healthful qualities of sunshine. It seems that the more skin one exposes to the sunlight, to say nothing of the spectators, the rosier one's cheeks are likely to be.

"The land bather or the 'beach vamp, who walks home without her bath robe" said the health commissioner, "is much more wise than anyone thinks."

Chief Collins was shocked, as he expressed it, "to see the old reliable health department urging the citizens to break the law."

Until some arbiter in the administration can decide whether the health bulletin shall be withdrawn or the bath robe ordinance recinded, the police department that enforcement of all bathing beach rules will be revived.

GILPIN HAS FOE OUSTED

BAKER'S BROTHER-IN-LAW WINS IN A 'BATTLE OF RELATIONS.'

PREDICTED BY PIERCE

(Kansas City Star).

Jefferson City, Aug. 27.—George Gilpin, steward at the state hospital in St. Joseph and brother-in-law of Governor Baker, has forced the resignation of Mrs. Harriett Peck, matron at the hospital, it was learned here yesterday.

It was announced here Mrs. Peck would step out September 1, "for the sake of harmony" at the St. Joseph institution. She is the sister of ex-State Senator W. W. Bowker of Nevada, Democrat. Her place will be taken by Mrs. Stella Martin, mother-in-law of State Senator Nick Cave of Fulton. Mrs. Martin lives at Fulton, also.

A War of Relatives.

"A war of relatives" is said here to have been precipitated by Gilpin, a former Buchanan County school teacher. What the disagreement was between Gilpin and Mrs. Peck could not be learned.

"Governor Baker took no hand in settling this row," an official of the state eleemosynary board explained today.

"Was any proposal made to discharge the governor's brother-in-law instead of dropping Mrs. Peck?" was asked.

The official merely smiled.

How Gilpin Got the Place.

Shortly after Governor Baker took office last January, it was learned an ultimatum had gone to the eleemosynary board that Gilpin must be given a place as steward at St. Joseph. W. C. (Cal) Pierce of Maryville objected, declaring that to appoint the governor's relative by marriage would disrupt the discipline at the institutions and bring about the very thing apparently taking place now in the state hospital at St. Joseph. A reorganization of the board was ordered by the governor, and Gilpin finally was appointed steward.

The discharge of S. S. Connett of Faucett, a member of the state highway commission was credited to Gilpin, as the result of a row over a right of way for a state road in Buchanan County. Connett was dropped last winter over the strenuous objections of Northwest Missouri.

Watermelon Rinds Used, Then a Fight

Artie Cotter is Alleged to Have Used a Croquet Mallet on W. N. Cox of Guilford

A complaint against Artie Cotter of Guilford, on a charge of common assault, was filed late last night by William N. Cox, a barber at Guilford. According to the story told, Cotter hit Cox over the head with a croquet mallet. It seems the little boy of Cotter's was hit by watermelon rindes while the boy was walking down the street with his father. Cotter asked Cox if he knew who was responsible and Cox is alleged to have said "I wouldn't tell you if I did know. Cotter is said to have used a croquet mallet in striking Cox, it being necessary to take several stitches in Cox's head.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sims will leave tomorrow to visit friends in St. Joseph and Kansas City for a week.

Martin Paulsgrove Back to Prison

Convicted of Murder of Andrew County Teacher—Sentenced to Hang, Adjudged Insane, Escaped, Then Caught.

Jefferson City, Aug. 27.—Martin Paulsgrove, sent to the Missouri state penitentiary from De Kalb county in 1907 for the murder of Mary Newman near Savannah, who in March, 1921 escaped from the state hospital for insane at Fulton was "dressed in" at the prison today after more than four years of freedom.

Paulsgrove was brought to this city yesterday from Galesburg, Ill., where he was arrested Wednesday.

Committed to the penitentiary for life in 1907, Paulsgrove was sent to the Fulton hospital in March 1918.

The Galesburg authorities told the Missouri deputy that Paulsgrove said he had visited relatives in the Illinois city about five times since his escape.

Warden Nix stated today that Paulsgrove would not be returned to the Fulton institution but would be confined in the state prison here.

Martin Paulsgrove, dressed in at the state penitentiary Wednesday, shot and killed Mary Newman, a school teacher, with whom he was infatuated, at the home of his father, one and one half miles east of Kodiak, Mo., which is about 10 miles east of Savannah.

Miss Newman had attended various social functions in the neighborhood with Paulsgrove but rejected him as a suitor. This, it is said, was the cause of the shooting. Paulsgrove used a revolver and fired 11 shots in her head and body.

The shooting occurred at 3:30 in the afternoon shortly after the beginning of the school term, according to C. A. Baldwin, 1021 Randolph street, motorman on the Messanie street car, who lived near Kodiak at the time, and who remembers the incidents of the crime.

Paulsgrove was waiting at the home, it is said, and when Miss Newman entered the house, he began firing. She was dead when members of the Paulsgrove family found her.

Paulsgrove went to Savannah following the shooting, it is said, and was arrested in a pool hall there. He was first tried at Maysville on a change of venue, and sentenced to hang, and the date of the execution was set. In the meantime a sanity jury was called and he was declared insane and placed in the hospital No. 2 at St. Joseph. Later he was declared sane, his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment and he was taken to the penitentiary. He was again declared insane after serving a short time and placed in the state hospital for the insane at Fulton, according to information received from J. V. Gaddy, assistant counselor, who remembers the case.

HEALTH MUST BE CONSIDERED

grows into a strong, healthy man or woman has a just grudge against society," was the manner in which he summed up the teacher's duty to his pupils in this respect.

"Just as you know how to detect signs of good or bad reading and arithmetic so you must be able to know the signs that point to good or bad health," Mr. Phillips said.

Usually 75 per cent of the children have some serious physical defect which can be corrected if seen in time and it is the teacher's duty to be able to recognize such defects, Mr. Phillips stated. A teacher cannot remedy the defect but can make suggestions to the parents or proper authorities.

Bad posture is prevalent in from 75 to 80 per cent of the school children today and from 75 to 90 per cent have defective teeth, according to Mr. Phillips. Other common defects easily remedied, but detrimental in the long run, are bad eyesight, poor hearing, adenoids, tonsils, underweight, and irritability.

The home and school must work together on any physical education program to cultivate good ideals and attitudes in the children. Healthy living conditions in the schoolroom were stressed by Mr. Phillips as being of prime importance in the maintenance of good health among the pupils. He also discussed very briefly some health habits and playground equipment.

Hope Americaa Farmer to Sell in 1 Agency

Farmers Need Increased Buying Power to Provide Better Homes and Schools.

The hope of the American farmer is to sell all products through one great selling agency in order to return to the farm a fair amount of the profits. Only in this way can he become as effective in the business end of the farming as any other business man. This is the belief of Macy Campbell, head of the rural education department of the Iowa State Teachers College at Cedar Rapids, Ia., who spoke to the teachers of the county in their meeting yesterday afternoon.

Farmers need this increased buying power to get better homes, better schools, and better religious and social conditions, according to Mr. Campbell. All of these must wait until the farmers can learn to pull with each other well enough to carry out such co-operative plans, he says.

As proof of this statement he cited the growing percentage of farm mortgages and farm tenantry in Missouri. In contrast to Missouri he told of what co-operative marketing in Denmark had done for that country. Farmers now own 96 per cent of the farms in that country and have built up a splendid system of rural education. Seventy-five years ago 90 per cent of the land there was in the hands of 10 per cent of the people, he said.

Mr. Campbell advocated that the co-operative marketing ideas be taught to the communities by the rural teachers. In Southern California, he said, such a plan had increased the farmers' share of the consumers' dollar from 8 cents to 38 cents.

Going from this topic to the question of good teaching, Mr. Campbell said that "if you want to do your best as a teacher you must fall in love with your profession." In the teaching business it is not what you save that counts as in other professions, but what you spend, he said. Spiritual contact with the members of the community was given as an important item in making a success of the teaching work, Mr. Campbell told his hearers in closing.

J. C. Godbey, state high school inspector, spoke to the high school section of the teachers plan meeting at the High School this morning on how to teach children to think and to study correctly.

The feat was accomplished by a Lincoln, Neb., man who is said to be the only world's sculptor in butter. About 135 pounds of butter was worked into the statue.

WHAT FRANCE WOULD PAY UNDER TERMS U. S. GRANTED BRITAIN.

Washington, Aug 27.—The total indebtedness of France to the United States May 15 was $4,210,556,948.27, of which $3,340,516,043. 72 was principal.

If this debt were funded on the terms of the British settlement with the United States—at 3 per cent and 3½ per cent interest and spread over a period of sixty-two years—the French payments would be more than 118 million dollars a year.

If funded on the terms offered France by Great Britain yesterday—2 per cent—the annual payment would approximately 85 million dollars.

State Leaders Like Asa Hutson

St. Louis Newspaper Man Generally Approved for Dry Post—Had Recommendation of W. F. Phares.

Jefferson City, Aug. 27.—Senator William's recommendation of Asa Hutson, political writer for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, for divisional prohibition administrator meets with the general approval of Republican state leaders.

Since the announcement Sunday that a well-known St. Louis newspaper man had been selected by Senator Williams, there has been much speculation here concerning his identity. An effort had been made to keep the name secret until after Gen. L. C. Andrews had approved the recommendation.

The job was offered Mr. Hutson more than a week ago. He took it under advisement until last Friday, when he consented to have his name sent to Washington.

Mr. Hutson is known to have the indorsement of Dr. E. B. Clements, national committeeman, and W. F. Phares state chairman.

Mr. Hutson is a Republican. He has a state-wide acquaintance among leaders of both political parties. It is understood he agreed to have his name sent to Washington for this place only on the understanding there "would be no strings attached." If appointed, he will have a free hand to reorganize the department and to carry out his own enforcement policies.
